Invesco wins Standard & Poor's 2008 award for small caps

Invesco last night was confirmed as the winner in the Australian Equities – Small Caps category at the 2008 S&P Fund awards.

According to S&P, Invesco's small cap team received the award based on the quality of its investment management capability and its strong performance track record.

Cynthia Jenkins, Head of Australian Smaller Companies at Invesco, said:

"We've been managing Australian small cap portfolios at Invesco for more than 20 years, and have delivered to clients more than 8% per annum outperformance versus benchmark in that time".

"Our small cap capability is strongly rated by most researchers, and the S&P award recognises the skills and hard work of our small cap team this year and in prior years."

Invesco manages approximately $800 million in Australian small cap assets.

Invesco's small cap portfolios are managed using a bottom-up approach that aims to buy unrecognised, undervalued companies that exhibit characteristics of change. Key benefits of this approach are a low portfolio turnover and tax efficient structure, which ensures a very efficient result for investors.
